

FIRE CONTROL DISTRICT NEEDS HELP OF LEGISLATORS

The Everglades Fire Control District comprised of the major portion of 11 South Florida counties exists today because legislators of Florida were convinced in 1935 that such a district was needed. That year, $50,000 was appropriated for operation of the district for the ensuing two years. In 1937 every member of the legislature realized the value of work done in soil conservation and the appropriation was raised to $77,000. Money for operation of the district comes from the general revenue fund and must be appropriated at every session of the legislature. Again in the 1939 session it will be necessary to appropriate a n amount sufficient to carry on the work of the district.

If every member of the legislature could have visited South Florida during the past ten days there is no doubt that an overwhelming vote would be cast for the appropriation in the coming session. For, here in these parts we have been suffering from the worst drought on record. The government station in Canal Point recorded only 1.97 inches of rain between October 25, 1938 and February 28, 1939. This is the longest siege of drought that has hit this area since records have been kept at the station.

With millions of acres of muck land on the shores of Lake Okeechobee as dry as gun powder the chief and wardens of the Fire Control district have been working night and day to keep valuable muck soil from being devoured by that demon fire. Hampered by a shortage of equipment and men, the department has fought valiantly to bring under control fires in this immediate area and fires on the lower east coast. Valuable farm lands and groves have been threatened by fires during the past few weeks. More equipment and more men are needed to cope with the situation.

One commendable move on the part of the department officials is that during the short time the district has been in existence the appropriation hasn't been spent alone for salaries. Where 11 wardens were planned for in the original bill only six are on duty today. The remainder of the money has been put into fire fighting equipment. And today, the fire control district has much valuable equipment for fire fighting — to show where the money went that was appropriated by the legislators. More money is needed to buy more equipment in order that fire fighting may be carried on in the Lake Region and on the lower east coast at one and the same time. Simultaneous fires under the present set-up are next to the impossible to handle in an efficient manner.

Members of the 1939 legislature are urged to study the fire hazards of the mucklands before they cast their votes on the appropriation. If they make a diligent study of the work done—the work that is being done—the equipment that has been bought—the equipment that is needed—then we believe they will give their approval to an appropriation sufficient to carry on the work of the district. $110,000 would, we believe, be enough to efficiently operate the department during the coming two years. This would be an increase of $33,000 over the 1937 appropriation, but no money appropriated by the coming session would go for a better cause.

I know you've noticed the swanky new-style program being issued weekly by the Management of the Prince and Everglades theatre. It is an eight-page affair printed on book paper and has caused quite a stir in the community among those who receive them every Saturday morning. Incidentally, they are distributed to every home from Port Mayaca to West Palm Beach that gives a good number of people opportunity to see them. Just this week the management of the theatre is in receipt of the current number of the "Trade Review," a national publication, and in it the program is reproduced. So, it had to be good to be reproduced in that trade journal. The management of the theatre, however, is not the only one that program was given this wide recognition by a nationally circulated journal which finds its way into the theatre in the United States. The program with its ever-changing programs with several theatres in Florida in order that they may pick up ideas, about what the other movie houses are doing. To date no program is active is anyone looking or more thorough than the one served by them every Saturday morning by the management of the local theatre.

I didn't have an last Saturday, but I have another idea for my spare moments from my laborious duties as a country editor. I think I'll raise a few chickens. I'm nearly as fond of fried chicken as I am of fried fish. I have just now found that the season is closed on the favorite of my fishing expeditions I think I'll try my hand at raising a few of the feathered fowl. I'm not sure just what I want to raise, but I want to raise them fast. I want some that gain weight fast and don't cause a lot of trouble.

If this experiment is as expensive as my fishing trips, I'll know now that I'd better continue buying fliers from my grocer instead of trying to raise them. However, it'll be a lot of fun and maybe it won't cost too much.

Teachers Attend Educational Meet

Several teachers from the Palmetto and Canal Point schools left yesterday for Tampa where they will attend sections of the annual meeting of the Florida Education Association. The sessions will last through Saturday morning at which time officials will be elected for the ensuing year.

Those from Canal Point in attendance at the meeting are: Principal J. E. Cox, Mrs. Dorothy Wright, Miss Gladys Folson, Miss Lois Moses, and Miss Mary Carol. The teachers will return to their homes Saturday night.

County School Board Chairman Carl A. Wiedel last year was elected secretary-treasurer of the School Board Members Association. County Superintendent John L. Leonard is a member of the FEA and Howell L. Watkins, principal of Palm Beach High, is a director of the FEA.

When Okaloosa County was created in 1917, he was the largest landowner in the county. He was a member of the FEA and was a director of the FEA. He was the head of several corporations and a director in many others.

Obituary services were held in the fine new church recently erected by Canal Point Baptists at the Sunday morning worship hour. ## Season's Shipments Hit 2636 As Activity Increases

Cabbages again led shipments from the Lake Region this week—10,615 carloads hit FEC tracks to the North. The cabbage market finally broke up and packers and growers were receiving almost twice as much as a week ago.

A total of 39 carloads of cabbages were shipped from the Glades and Canal Point and Bay Point for the round type, and 1,652-225 per cwt. for fresh greens. Last week's low was $17.00 and 1,212 carloads came to the North. Prices were steady to slight low for beans. Black Valentines brought $2.75-3.00; tender greens $2.75-2.90 and limas $2.50-3.25. Celery carloads numbered 1,500, and 1,212 radishes 6, each.

Shipments from Belle Glade numbered 6,600, Sand Cut 20, Cardwell, Canal Point and Bay Point, Palmetto, Lake 4 and Runnels 1.

Mr. Crocker is due a vote of thanks from Lake Region residents for his stand in this matter and we know that he and other board members will do all in their power to continue the road patrol during the remainder of the school term.

COMMISSIONER DOYLE CROCKER URGES BOARD TO CONTINUE OPERATION OF THE COUNTY ROAD PATROL DURING REMAINDER OF SCHOOL TERM

(An Editorial)

County Commissioner Doyle Crocker told other members of the county commission Monday that continuation of the county road patrol in the Lake Okeechobee Region is imperative during the remainder of the school term. Sheriff "Hil" Lawrence, under whose direction the patrol operated, had informed the board at its regular meeting that the road patrol would be discontinued the last of March. The board in an effort to cooperate with the sheriff, however, decided to request State Comptroller Jim Lee for permission to transfer temporarily $600 from the fine and forfeiture fund to provide for two months more of patrol work.

If a community ever needed road patrol work the Lake Okeechobee region does and to discontinue it at a time when fire is heaviest would be nothing short of a crime. Hundreds of boys and girls riding to and from school in buses must have protection from reckless drivers—those who value their own life at nothing and the life of others at less.

We are sure that Commissioner Doyle Crocker will have the co-operation of every member of the county commission and that everything possible will be done to continue the road patrol here in this congested area. Chairman of the Board Barney Poston, Commissioners C. Y. Boyd, John Prince and Zeke Cornelius are thoroughly familiar with the needs of the Everglades and are ever alert to lend a hand to Mr. Crocker in his beneficial results for those of us who live here on the shores of Lake Okeechobee. Mr. Crocker is due a vote of thanks from Lake Region residents for his stand in this matter and we know that he and other board members will do all in their power to continue the road patrol during the remainder of the school term.

MOTORING MANNERS.

Did you ever stop to wonder what driving a car does to most motorists? We are alluding to their conduct as gentlemen or as women.

There seems to be something about getting behind the steering wheel of an auto that brings out our worst nature and the most docile, and gentled of us are animal. The average driver seems to have more fun and concern the motorist who tries to pass him. The kindest fellow on foot can make the nastiest remarks when he sees him behind the steering wheel.

It is the honest driver who marks that the other fellow doesn't know how to drive? Some of the sweetest-faced girls can work up the meanest sort ofrown when they are by name mentioned. You can never tell these ladies at a gathering and find her people cordial and friendly, but meet her on the road in an auto, and she becomes an instant enemy. The quietest-named people in a car often develop into the loudest honk-horners. What causes such a condition? We can't explain it, but look out for it!

A BILL IN THE HOUSE
Guy M. Strayhorn, Lee county's new member of the legislature, is getting a lot of favorable mention around the state on the bill he is writing "to put teeth in the certificates." Comment agrees that this should be the form of "sunrise" legislation for the approaching session and as nobody else has got as far as offering a bill, Mr. Strayhorn's is alone in the limelight.

His idea on the subject first received publicity when he expressed it at a civic club meeting here some time ago. On that occasion he was a member of the Community Methodist Circuitarian J. O. Jameson had charge of the program.

Speaking briefly on what vocational training means in Rotary, Rev. Jameson pointed out that the vocational of the nation represents a vast source of power and that power should be directed into useful channels through vocational training.

He said: "The young people of today who are waiting for opportunities for betterment and service in choosing vocations.

He added that the vocational training school is administering a number of tests to the students in order to best determine the capabilities of each. Clarence Kidder, guest of Mr. Hart, said that the application tests regarding the aptitudes of the student's viewpoint.

Rutherford Evert Lapp of Pahokee emphasized the importance of the vocational service program in Rotary and urged each member to contribute in aiding the high school students to choose his occupation.

Lou Betzner's suggestion that the club assist in the purchase of a vocational education library was adopted and action is being taken in a meeting immediately following the regular session.
